The Honorable Sheila Jackson Lee
U.S. House of Representatives
2160 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Colleague:

Pursuant to House Rule 25, clause 5(d)(2), the Committee on Ethics hereby approves your proposed trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, scheduled for January 8 to 10, 2013, sponsored by the Consumer Electronics Association.

We remind you that, because the trip sponsor employs a federal lobbyist, you may participate in officially-connected activity on one calendar day only. For purposes of this trip, officially-connected activity includes attending conference sessions and visiting the product exhibits on the "Show Floor."

You must complete a Member Travel Disclosure Form and file it with the Clerk of the House within 15 days after your return from travel. As part of that filing, you are required to attach a copy of this letter and both the Private Sponsor Travel Certification Form (including attachments) and Member travel approval form you previously submitted to the Committee. You must also report all travel expenses totaling more than $350 from a single source on Schedule VII of your annual Financial Disclosure Statement.

As a final matter, we note that this trip is scheduled to take place after the 113th Congress convenes in January 2013. This approval is therefore subject to any possible changes to the House Rules in the new Congress. You should contact the Committee at extension 5-7103 after the 113th Congress has convened to seek further information about any applicable House rule changes.

Sincerely,

Jo Bonner
Chairman

11 a.m.-Noon Strategic Immigration: Bringing the Best and Brightest to America
Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N254
The facts are clear: immigration is good for innovation. In fact, more than 40 percent of the companies in 2010 Fortune 500 were started by immigrants or their children. Unfortunately, our current immigration policy effectively shuts the doors on high-skilled immigrants and forces them to create jobs outside of America. On this panel we will hear Washington policymakers and top entrepreneurs discuss how to fix our broken innovation system and bring high-skilled workers into the US.

Innovators are battling a growing epidemic of lawsuits brought by so-called non-practicing entities (i.e. "patent trolls"). It has been estimated that these lawsuits are costing the economy $29 billion a year – money that cannot be used for research or creating American jobs. On this panel we will hear from companies that have been victimized, as well as Washington policymakers who are helping the tech industry fight back.

Beyond SOPA: Creating a Pro-innovation, Pro-artist Copyright Policy

Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N254

Copyright policy – once an esoteric and legal backwater – now has a critical impact on our ability to work, play and communicate. In 2012, millions of Americans contacted their member of Congress to protest restrictive copyright proposals, while intellectual property issues took center stage in Washington and at the Presidential debates. Join a group of entrepreneurs and DC policymakers as we discuss how to protect IP while maintaining a vibrant internet and creating new opportunities for content creators.

Mobile Impact on Economic Growth and Job Creation

Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N254

Mobile technology has expanded dramatically around the world. According to the Cisco Visual Networking Index, global mobile data traffic has doubled for the fourth year in a row. And looking toward the future, the report estimates that “global mobile data traffic will increase 18-fold between 2011 and 2016.” By the end of that time period, it is projected that there will be 10 billion mobile devices in use around the world. This panel will look at the economic benefits of mobile broadband in terms of worker productivity, macroeconomic growth, and job creation. With access to apps, information, and resources, smart phones and tablets are affecting virtually every industry and sector by making communication faster and easier than ever. We will address the impact of mobile technology on the global economy and how it will affect economic growth in the future. Panel produced in partnership with the Brookings Institute.

Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N254
In April 2012 the Consumer Electronics Association and about a dozen CE companies announced the eCycling Leadership Initiative – the first national, industry-wide initiative to set ambitious goals and expectations for recycling consumer electronics. Included in this announcement was an unprecedented Billion Pound Challenge: the consumer electronics industry challenged itself to more than triple recycling activities to a billion pounds by 2016. What effect has the eCycling Leadership Initiative had on the broader e-waste policy discussion? Does the Initiative provide a model for a national, industry-driven e-waste policy? Come to this session to hear from industry leaders and policymakers on how to move beyond the patchwork of state e-waste laws to a sustainable industry-driven CE recycling system.

- 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Energetic efficiency: How industry, not government, is leading the way to energy savings in electronics
Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N264
During the past several years, there have been numerous proposals to place regulatory limits on the power use of electronic products and equipment. Has this kind of approach finally been cast aside in favor of alternatives more friendly to innovation, competition and consumer choice? In the high tech sector, can government-mandated solutions really keep pace with what companies are doing already? How has the electronics industry shown leadership when it comes to saving energy (and money) for consumers and businesses, and what should we expect in 2013?

Las Vegas Convention Center, North Hall, N264
Recognizing consumer interest in the issue, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) recently formed a government-industry group to study the current policies and procedures airlines use to determine when electronics can be used safely during flight. To what extent will this impact the use of mobile phones in flight? Are current policies inhibiting innovation as well as passenger convenience? Are U.S. passengers and airlines at a disadvantage compared to other countries and regions? Join airline, technology and regulatory professionals to learn about the policy, technical and operational issues now at stake. Produced in partnership with APEX.
